

NEW TAX BILL BEFORE SENATE

HOOVER AGAIN VETOES VETERANS BILL

SPECIAL MEASURE OF HOSPITALIZATION MET SECOND VETO

FIRST DUTY IS TO MEN WHO FOUGHT, PRESIDENT
SAID IN MESSAGE

WASHINGTON, May 9. (P)—President Hoover today vetoed for the second time a bill to provide hospitalization and the privileges of soldiers' homes to the men who served in the Spanish American war, the Philippine insurrection and the Boxer uprising.

Declaring "our first obligation" is veterans who served under enlistments in the army and navy, the president said:

"I cannot concur in a proposal to single out one class of civilian employees who served during certain periods of hostilities and confer upon them a right to the benefit of hospitalization and domiciliary care provided by law for veterans of our wars."

The president's message to the house follows in full:

"I am returning without approval H. R. 4724, entitled 'an act to confer to certain persons who served in the quartermaster corps or under the jurisdiction of the quartermaster general during the war with Spain, the Philippine insurrection, or the China relief expedition the benefits of hospitalization and the privileges of the soldiers' homes.'"

"This bill is identical with H. R. 6997, 71st congress, third session, from which I withheld approval for the reasons set forth in my message to the house of representatives, of February 23, 1931, printed as House document No. 778. Nothing has transpired since that date which would justify me in now approving this bill. 'I cannot concur in a proposal to single out one class of civilian employees who served during certain periods of hostilities, and confer upon them a right to the benefit of hospitalization and domiciliary care provided by law for veterans of our wars.'"

"Such proposal would be to establish a precedent, which, in all justice, would call for similar

POICEMAN FAILS SERVE SUBPOENA ON MRS. MASSIE SUNDAY

DEPARTURE OF TRIO MARKED BY ANGRY WORDS AND PHYSICAL OUTBURSTS

By WILLIAM H. EWING.
HONOLULU, May 9. (P)—Mrs. Thalia Massie and others who became enmeshed in Honolulu's episode of tragedy and crime have left Hawaii with tumult, tears and anger marking the departure.

With Honolulu police seeking to serve her with a subpoena, Mrs. Massie, her husband, Lieut. Thomas H. Massie and her mother, Mrs. Granville Fortescue, were yesterday by a naval submarine tender and with the aid of a high naval officer who held police at bay.

The police had sought to serve Mrs. Massie with a formal summons to appear at the scheduled hearing of four men accused of attacking her last September. She was unwilling to proceed with this case in view of the outcome of its sequel, that in which Mrs. Fortescue, Massie and E. J. Lord and Albert O. Jones, navy enlisted men, were convicted of the lynching of Joseph Kahahawai.

The attack led to the abduction and slaying of Kahahawai. On the stand Massie testified she fired the fatal shot after the native had confessed taking part in the assault. Three navy men were convicted of manslaughter but freed when their sentences were commuted by Governor Lawrence M. Dodd.

The departure of the principals and their attorneys, Clarence Darrow and George S. Lelure, was perhaps the strangest ever witnessed on Honolulu's waterfront.

Piers Are Crowded.

The piers were crowded, reports of the police hunt for Mrs. Massie since yesterday having heightened the already intense public interest. The Royal Hawaiian band was playing on the pier and leis of flowers were piled high on the shoulders of departing individuals.

Almost unnoticed, the submarine tender from Pearl Harbor naval station 12 miles away edged up beside the big liner, Mrs. Fortescue appeared on its deck.

TEXAS DEMOCRATS INSTRUCT DELEGATES FOR JOHN GARNER

CONSIDERABLE SECOND
CHOICE SENTIMENT IS AP-
PARANT FOR ROOSEVELT

AUSTIN, May 9. (P)—Texas democrats will take their second tomorrow toward delivering the state's 46 ballots in the national party convention to John N. Garner for president.

Delegates selected in precinct conventions Saturday were expected to meet in county conventions and name representatives to attend the state convention in Houston May 24.

If expressions at the precinct meetings are crystallized in the county gatherings, the state convention will have little to do other than commanding the delegation to the national conclave to vote for Garner for the presidential nomination.

However, depth of considerable

WICKERSHAM BREAKS SILENCE TO SUGGEST PASSING LIQUOR ISSUE TO PEOPLE FOR VOTES

WASHINGTON, May 9. (P)—George W. Wickersham believes more strongly than ever that a referendum on prohibition is needed.

Sixteen months after winding up the work of the notable crime-study commission which bore his name, Wickersham expressed the conviction in an interview yesterday that a vote on altering the Eighteenth Amendment through state conventions would do much to settle the question of prohibition. He termed the "sober, informed and deliberate opinion of the people."

He knew, he said, that several members of his commission held the same opinion. In this inter-commission silence he had clung to the complete silence of the commission's work. He was asked about the apparent discrepancy between the conclusion's appended to the report and the views expressed by a majority of the members in their individual expressions, while the summary set out that "the commission is opposed to repeal of the 18th Amendment," the greater number of the commissioners argued the dry law should be changed in some way.

"Six of the members," replied Wickersham, "in varying degrees that prohibition was not a success in its form at that time. Four of us felt that it was not being enforced properly but that sufficient opportunity had not been given to judge it a failure. One member (Newton D. Baker) felt that the whole question should be remitted at once to the states. All were opposed to a return of the saloon."

"The summary represented the best view we could obtain from the conflicting opinions. A majority agreed that if the amendment was revised it should be made to read that Congress shall have power to regulate or prohibit the manufacture and transportation within the United States."

PERUVIAN NAVY LOSES REVOLT AS FOUR SHOTS FIRED

COMMUNISTS SEIZED TWO
CRUISERS BUT SUBMARINE
SUBDUED THEM

LIMA, Peru, May 9. (P)—The Peruvian navy lost a short-lived communist revolution yesterday, being subdued by four shots from a submarine's guns.

The revolution took place in the port at Callao, near here. The communists seized the only two cruisers in the navy and for a while the situation seemed so serious that a state of siege was declared.

Almost the entire population of Callao gathered on the docks to watch the battle in the harbor. There was much maneuvering. Four submarines and a destroyer homed the cruisers in and airplanes flew overhead, dropping first messages and then a few bombs.

One of the cruisers ran up the red flag and fired twice at the nearest submarine. The submarine replied with four shots, two in the air and two on aim. One of the latter struck a gasoline tank.

That ended the revolt. The rebels ran up the white flag. They were arrested and thrown in jail, and great hurrahs for the government of President Luis M. Sanchez Cerro from the crowds on the docks.

A naval war council was called to start proceedings against the mutineers. Punishment is usually death.

THIRTY-EIGHT ARE BELIEVED BURIED IN APARTMENT RUINS

LANDSLIDES COVER TWO HOUSES SUNDAY ON OUT-SKIRTS OF LYONS

LYONS, France, May 9. (P)—Fifteen bodies were removed today from the ruins of two apartment houses which were engulfed yesterday by landslides but it was feared at least 30 more still lay in the wreckage.

Artillery was trained on the hill behind the town and 200 shots were fired to remove the danger of another and heavier slide.

LYONS, France, May 9. (P)—Thirty-eight persons were believed buried today under landslides which swallowed up two apartment houses in the outskirts of Lyons.

Twelve injured were removed before rescuers were ordered away by Edouard Herriot, mayor and former premier, who himself escaped death from another slide only by leaping to safety.

The rescue parties returned to the ruins, however, after cries were heard in the wreckage. At midnight they discovered a woman pinned by a beam. She said she was not hurt.

Explosions and fires preceded the slides. The first occurred at 9 a. m. while many of the residents were asleep. It cracked the gas mains. The fire department removed the first 12 persons before the second and larger slide tumbled down, crushing both buildings.

GARNER IS FAVORED FOR PRESIDENCY IN PRECINCT MEETINGS

DELEGATES TO NAVARRO COUNTY CONVENTION ARE SELECTED ON SATURDAY

John Nance Garner as a nominee of the United States was urged in the democratic residential precinct conventions held in Navarro county Saturday for the purpose of electing delegates and alternates to the county convention which will be held at the county courtroom in the court-house Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock, according to the returns received Monday at the headquarters of the Navarro county democratic executive committee.

No conventions were held in a number of the precincts outside of Corsicana due to the torrential rains. In a number of instances, no resolutions were passed, but where resolutions were passed, Garner was the choice. Strict economy in governmental affairs was also urged in all governmental agencies and the abolishment of a number of useless offices, bureaus and commissions were urged.

The four wards in Corsicana and Kerens and Blooming Grove passed strong endorsement for Garner.

The present republican administration was also flayed.

The following pledge was signed by those participating in the conventions:

"I hereby pledge myself to support the nominees of the democratic party for president and vice president of the United States by voting for the democratic electors of the state of Texas."

A few instances were reported in which persons attending the conventions declined to take the pledge.

N. S. Crawford of Kerens, chairman of the county democratic executive committee, will call the meeting to order Tuesday morning. The Navarro county convention will endorse the candidacy of Garner, first, last and all the

GIANT AIRSHIP ON WAY TO COAST NOW CROSSING TEXAS

AKRON, THE WORLD'S LARG-EST AIRCRAFT, REPORTED
FUNCTIONING PERFECTLY

BEAUMONT, May 9. (P)—The Akron, world's largest airship, was brought over Texas soil near Beaumont at 1:05 p. m. (C. S. T.) this afternoon on its flight from Lakehurst to the Pacific Coast by its commander Charles E. Rosendahl, a native Texan.

The dirigible reached Texas, with its 80 occupants after leisurely cruising down the Atlantic seaboard yesterday and the Gulf Coast last night. It flew over New Orleans early today and then crossed Louisiana at a speed of approximately 45 miles per hour.

Commander Rosendahl pointed his craft in an arrow course towards its destination when it reached New Orleans, indicating he had chosen the Southern route to cross his home state.

Rough weather was in the offing for the journey over Texas, thunderstorms being predicted for a large area of West Texas late today. Tall winds, however, were promised after San Antonio is reached, providing a change of course is not made.

At the rate of speed maintained so far, the Akron will reach El Paso early tomorrow.

The Akron, after circling over the city, turned south and a few minutes later was reported visible at Port Arthur, 18 miles south

NEW DRIVE FEDERAL UNEMPLOYMENT AID IS STARTED MONDAY

SOCIAL WORKERS APPEAR
BEFORE SENATE MANUFAC-
TURES COMMITTEE

WASHINGTON, May 9. (P)—Edward F. McGraw, secretary of the American Federation of Labor, warned a senate committee today there is danger of revolt unless the federal government takes action to relieve unemployment.

Testifying before the committee considering the Costigan relief bill, he said "if something is not done and starvation is going to continue and perhaps millions of dollars of revolution are going to be thrown open and leaders of the country ought to know it."

McGrady followed a number of welfare workers from New York, Chicago and Philadelphia who renewed the drive for federal aid for the unemployed.

The committee is considering the Costigan bill to authorize the raising of $500,000,000 through a bond issue for advances to the states and municipalities.

"The administration ought to know that more than balancing the budget is needed," McGrady said. "Bread and butter are needed. We want to get it through work. If we can't do that we are going to get it anyway."

Labor leaders, McGrady said, have lost their patience with the government's failure to provide relief.

"The employment situation is worse than at any time," he said, warning that next winter would be more serious than last.

"A number of uprisings in industrial cities have been tossed off by saying they were led by communists," McGrady continued, "but most of those people know nothing on the field."

Many Manchurian Rebels Reported Slain By Japs

TOKYO, May 9. (P)—Four hundred Manchurian rebels were reported killed in the fighting with Japanese troops in northern Manchuria today, dispatches of the Rengo News Agency from Harbin said.

Seven of the rebels were said to be Russians, probably "white" Russians. The Japanese lost 19 dead.

General Nakamura's Japanese brigade occupied Fengcheng after a two-day battle against a force of 5,000 rebels who retreated westward in disorder, leaving 300 dead on the field.

General Yoda's brigade defeated another large rebel force at Mountinkiang. The rebels retreated eastward. One hundred rebels were killed in this battle, including the seven Russians.

Two more candidates for the Democratic presidential nomination will obtain actual delegate strength this week—Albert C. Ritchie of Maryland and George White of Ohio.

The two governors will receive the votes of their respective states, White by a primary tomorrow which is expected to give him almost as many votes as Ohio's 52, Ritchie taking Maryland's 16 in convention Thursday without any opposition.

Meanwhile, today the camp of Franklin D. Roosevelt expected a dozen more votes for the New York governor, half from Arizona and half from Wyoming. Both states were choosing delegates in state conventions. To this total Roosevelt hoped also to add another 16 tomorrow in West Virginia's primary, though Gov. William H. Murray of Oklahoma is entered against him there.

With very little opposition, President Hoover stands to pick 88 votes tomorrow to give him a strength of better than 900. Ohio will name 55 and West Virginia 19 primaries, while a convention in Tennessee will select 20 more delegates. Three contests in Ohio, against Joseph I. France of Maryland, and two against delegates pledged to Mayor Jacob S. Coxey, of Massillon, offer all the opposition to the Hoover drive in the week.

REVAMPED REVENUE MEASURE IS READY FOR ACTION MONDAY

DETERMINATION APPARENT TO PRESS BILLION DOL-LAR BILL THROUGH

WASHINGTON, May 9. (P)—The big boy tax bill was put on the mark for a sprint toward enactment today, while the party chieftains determined anew to supplement its dwarfed running mate—the economy bill.

After refusing 2 to 4 to reopen the rate section of the $1,010,000,000 revenue measure, the senate finance committee reported it and bipartisan determination to press it through is evident.

Meanwhile, the senate appropriations committee went to work on the vital supply and economy bills, determined to bring about savings of more than 200,000,000 necessary to make the new tax bill balance the 1933 budget.

In the house, the economy committee which had its omnibus bill shattered was called to meet this afternoon on plans for other moves to cut government costs.

President Hoover worked steadily in a continued effort to rally senate jointly for the compromise tax bill and a $237,000,000 money-saving program.

Mr. Hoover leads to concentrate on senate efforts principally in coming days, since it now holds not only the tax and economy bills but also a majority of the appropriation measures.

RANGERS FRUSTRATE EXTORTION PLOT ON LOUISE MAN SUNDAY

ONE MAN ARRESTED AFTER BEING WOUNDED; SEEK
TWO OTHERS MONDAY

WHARTON, May 9. (P)—Roy Henderson, a farmer, was charged today with attempted extortion in connection with an alleged attempt to obtain $5,000 from Leveridge Stockton, banker of Louisville, by threats.

Ranger Captain Light Townsend and other officers had questioned at least two other men, but had made no additional arrests. County Attorney W. F. Reid said.

Bond had not been set for Henderson, who was suffering from a wound in the leg, but Reid said it would be "pretty high."

Henderson was arrested in Houston yesterday morning when he appeared at a hospital for treatment for his wound.

Ranger W. L. Dietz fired on and wounded a man who appeared Saturday night at a spot near Louisville where the banker had left a dummy package in response to two written demands threatening his life and the kidnapping of his four-year-old daughter, Margaret, unless he left $5,000 there. Townsend left in wait with Dietz, said Henderson was the man wounded.

The suspect, County Attorney Reid said, had made no formal statement.

WHARTON, May 9. (P)—Having shot one alleged extortionist, state rangers believed today they had frustrated a plot to obtain $5,000 from Leveridge Stockton, banker of Louisville.

Officers planned to file charges today against the wounded man and Ranger Capt. Light Townsend continued a search for at least two other men he said were implicated.

The suspect was wounded Saturday night near the spot two miles from Louisville where Stockton, on the advice of rangers, had left a dummy package of money. The banker had received two notes demanding that he

YOUNG WOMAN IS ASSAULTED AND KILLED IN OHIO

DIETITICIAN TOLEDO HOSPITAL VICTIM OF BRUTAL ATTACK LAST NIGHT

TOLEDO, O., May 6.—(P)—Strangled to death and identified by an identified man, the body of Miss Winifred Rafferty, 22, dietitian at the Robinson hospital, was found early today in an exclusive Toledo residential section.

Police blamed a man for the attack and said the young woman was killed only after a terrific struggle almost all of her clothing was torn from her body, the buttons were off her coat, and her shoes had been hurled several feet away.

The body was found by Richard Carr, son of W. C. Carr, prominent Toledo banker on the lawn of his brother's home, only a short distance from the hospital. Carr observed the young woman's form when the headlights of his automobile shone on the body as it lay in the driveway, returning home from Detroit.

Miss Rafferty, a member of the Red Cross life saving corps, and of the Toledo Knights of Columbus swimming team, was returning to the hospital after a swimming class when she met her death.

Mrs. William Greer, mother of the slain girl, said her daughter and other nurses had been annoyed numerous times in the same vicinity by a man who gave evidence of weak-mindedness.

HUNTER DELIVERS OPENING ADDRESS IN CENTRAL TEXAS

ENNIS, May 7.—(Special to the Sun)—Charging that the combined major oil interests of America had successfully preached the doctrine of unlimited freedom for "big business" at the cost of individual liberties, the Honorable T. H. Hunter of Wichita Falls, Democratic candidate for governor, began his campaign in the Central Texas district with an address on the streets of Ennis Saturday afternoon.

He recalled that during his stay in Washington last year while attending the session of congress he had seen the oil men seeking a tariff to protect domestic producers from foreign importations. It was shown that through one agency alone the major companies had spent more than $100,000,000 in educating the people to think and vote as they would have them think and vote.

He declared that it was possible for him to secure the facts which he presented to the Texas legislature which revealed that one "oil octopus" had, by manipulation, within six months controlled the industry in the great East Texas oil fields, with a resultant profit to them of more than three hundred million dollars. He charged that the pipeline companies and oil companies were falsifying their tax returns and paying on only a small percentage of the return which they received in taxes, while the real estate owners were paying 100 per cent of the return from their investments. Mr. Hunter asserted that in the face of an injunction against the Standard Oil Companies prohibiting them from doing business, they had continued to operate in violation of which they were left almost a free hand.

The major companies were charged with robbing Texas farmers and laborers of millions of dollars annually through the use of bonuses and royalties, by continuing to import cheap foreign oil, and hold off millions of barrels of Texas crude from the market.

He said that the petroleum or independent business in this country we shall be subjected to two groups, which some may term "employer and employee," but which he called "master and slave," as he concluded his address.

BUTLER-CALHOUN SERVICE STATION OPENED SATURDAY

Handicapped by a heavy downpour, the greater part of the day the first service station of the Butler-Calhoun Company was formally presented to the public Saturday morning on the plot adjoining the building of A. B. Walker and Son, north commerce street. The station represents a new type in stations to Corsicana, and is manned by J. E. Craig and J. F. Boynton. Products of the company's refinery, Gladewater in the East Texas oil fields are being distributed through the station, including two grades of gasoline and a full range of lubricating oils. The Butler-Calhoun Company is owned by E. E. E. Johnson, Calhoun and O. E. Boynton. Formerly of Corsicana, several towns in East and Central Texas are now being served by the products of the company.

Attendants at the station announced Saturday that it was very probable that another formal opening would be held within the near future in order to acquaint Corsicana motorists with the products of the East Texas Refinery.

A window was splintered and some other damage done. The fire department answered the alarm but their services were not needed.

DEMOCRATIC FAVORITE SONS AND DARK HORSES START ON PARADE FOR PARTY FAVOR

BY BYRON PRICE.

WASHINGTON, May 6.—(P)—Another parade of democratic favorites and dark horses is beginning, stirring the dust of new uncertainties for the party just as the republican stalwarts show notable signs of consolidating their position behind President Hoover.

At no previous time since the pre-convention campaign began has there been a more varied and conflicting discussion of candidates among the democrats, or greater evidence of hopefulness among the republicans.

In both cases the California primary is largely responsible. Governor Roosevelt's defeat there is stimulating both his friends and his enemies to redoubled exertion. President Hoover's unexpectedly large vote, coupled with other developments, is greatly encouraging his supporters.

Senator Norris of Nebraska, last night that he would support a Roosevelt ticket as against Hoover was hardly a surprise. He deserted the republicans in favor of Smith in '28.

The democrats have come to a critical time. As the California returns rolled up the margin of Speaker John N. Garner's victory over Roosevelt, many of the New York democrats expressed their surprise and exuberance that this was the end of the Roosevelt boom. The tendency has been to amend that judgment after more careful consideration but the party for compromise candidates is going forward with great diligence as the Roosevelt men prepare to fill up the gaps and carry on with more determination than ever.

Among the favorite sons, the present speculation of the anti-Roosevelt leaders centers around Governor Albert C. Ritchie of Maryland and former Governor E. B. Taylor of Virginia, who is even more talk, however, of

PRESIDENT'S DRIVE FOR ECONOMY GETS SOME COOPERATION

WASHINGTON, May 7.—(P)—President Hoover's militant drive for an orderly and effective economy program in congress already has secured the cooperation of some of the nation's leading business men. Despite sporadic criticism and a degree of political watchfulness among party leaders, there were manifestations today of the same cooperative willingness which crowned the extraordinary success the early part of the congressional session.

Most heartening was the reconstructed tax bill, approved by the senate finance committee, ready for report to the senate Tuesday or Wednesday, and indicating prospects of speedy and favorable disposal.

Though the bonus-paying proposals which yesterday had appeared definitely killed off, were the subject of the bill, the ways and means group, there was complete confidence that it could not pass congress in the remaining time, whatever may be done.

The president, in clipped phrases yesterday, issued the first of a series of appeals to the people for understanding and support of his economy demands. He did not repeat the language he had before but struck a note pleasing to congressmen by dressing down "the locust swarm of lobbyists who haunt the halls of congress seeking selfish privilege."

The business and buttonholers representing the nation's major industries have been regarded by many members among chief causes of tangled nerves and peculiar legislative antics of the session. While the senate finance committee was executing its strange maneuvers, show on the tax bill, the members were never free of knowledge that outside their door stood a veritable swarm of men in high and low, pleading or threatening on behalf of their particular interest.

Mr. Hoover said it was an issue now between the people and the lobbyists as well as an issue of the people and the legislature. He said the people should be given the right to choose between the two.

He was emphatic in stating that the economy question is not a controversy between the president and congress, and that the program is and must be non-partisan. He said it was when "proposed by me and particularly accepted by the leaders of both political parties last December."

GEN. E. CROWDER, SOLDIER-DIPLOMAT, DIED IN WASHINGTON

HAD BRILLIANT CAREER IN HIS CHOSEN LIFE; FORMULATED DRAFT RULES

WASHINGTON, May 7.—(P)—A long illness, accompanied by a gradual weakening of resistance and aggravated by an attack of pneumonia resulted in the death today of Major-General Enoch Crowder, America's leading soldier-diplomat.

His death at 73 at Walter Reed hospital ended a brilliant military career, bringing to a close a diplomatic life. He was the first American ambassador to Cuba.

One of his outstanding acts as a military man was the formulation and supervision of the system of selective draft in the world war which sent to the front millions of American soldiers. As a diplomat, he was active in reorganizing the government of Cuba after that nation's flight for liberty.

The general was brought to Walter Reed hospital from Cuba two months ago after another of a series of attacks from which he had suffered in the past few years. The development of pneumonia made the fight for life by the aged general an almost impossible one.

One sister, Miss Nell Crowder, was with him when he died. Another, Mrs. A. P. Duval, lives in Louisville, Ky.

Crowder was one of the most notable leaders in the military and at one time was judge advocate general of the army, retiring from that post in 1923 after 12 years service to become Cuban ambassador. He resigned from that post four years later because of ill health.

Routine army orders which, in the early '80s removed Lieut. Enoch Herbert Crowder from cavalry service to an instructorship in military science at the University of Missouri, resulted in development of one of the outstanding legal experts of the United States army and laid the foundation for his administrative and diplomatic work.

Turns to Law.
Arrived at the university, Lieut. Crowder decided to study law and to make a legal career of it. He was admitted to the bar in 1886. Ultimately he became a member of the general staff of the army and, invested with provost marshal general powers early in the world war, it was he who originated the return of the 1,000,000 men into the national army.

Earlier the decision of the United States to oversee the establishment of the new republic of Cuba set Crowder's career on a new course. He drafted personally many of the basic laws of that nation and later became the first American ambassador to Havana.

He was twice recognized by votes of thanks passed by the Cuban legislature. From Edinburg, Mo., where he was born April 11, 1859, Crowder reached the military academy at West Point. He graduated in June, 1881, was commissioned a second lieutenant of cavalry and sent to duty on the Texas-Mexico border. He was sent from the border to his University of Missouri assignment.

Back to Field.
From the campus he went back to field duty. This included scouting, engineering work and the Dakotas, where Indians still were troublesome. Incidental to the latter assignment he witnessed in 1890 the arrest of the famous Sioux Sitting Bull, who 14 years earlier had been killed by General Custer's command. A few days after the arrest Sitting Bull was killed in a fray that started when his followers refused to rescue him from the Indian police.

A friend who knew Crowder in those days said that in the vigor of his bearing, elastic step and tanned skin there was a suggestion of the famous General Custer, who was a "hornet." But he was destined scarcely ever to smell burning powder.

His bent for judicial aspects of the army and within 10 years after his graduation from West Point he was assigned as acting judge advocate of the department of the Pacific. This began more than 30 years' service in the judge advocate general department.

missioner, stated Saturday the Corsicana-Ward bridge road would be closed to traffic Saturday morning on Highway 31 Wednesday of next week. This is an 18-foot concrete slab, beginning near the Magnolia Refinery south of Corsicana and extending to the new bridge crossing on Richmond Creek via Retreat and Pickett.

E. W. Hable, local contractor, is preparing to construct the new bridge. The bridge will be a concrete structure and will be a permanent improvement to the highway.

Highway 75 north and south through Navarro county via Rice, Corsicana and Richmond, was opened for traffic Saturday morning with the removal of the barricades on the last stretch of the pavement from South Seventh street to the highway south of Corsicana at the intersection of the South Fifteenth Street extension. The through traffic can now proceed into Corsicana from the north via the Rockefeller at the Burlington and Rock Island lines, and the new pavement from the south along the Pacific coast line. No definite announcement has been made as to the time the gravel will be placed on this road, but it is expected this work will be completed during the summer months.

Burglars entered the Sanitary Cafe, 128 East Collins street, about 10 o'clock Sunday night and procured approximately $20 from the cash register, according to information received today. Entrance was effected by cutting a screen from a back window and exit apparently was made through a rear door that was reported to have been left open.

UPCHURCH CHARGES ORDER RAIL COMMISSION IGNORED AND INJUNCTION IS SOUGHT

STREETS FLOODED BY DOWNPOUR HERE SATURDAY AT NOON

AUSTIN, May 7.—(P)—Fred Upchurch, assistant attorney general, today asked Judge Randolph Bryant, United States district judge at Tyler, for injunctions to restrain five concerns producing oil in the East Texas field and violating railroad commission production orders.

The Upchurch petition alleged they produced 153,000 barrels in excess of the commission allowance during April.

Those Upchurch seeks to restrain previously sought to restrain the commission from interfering with production from their wells and the state filed cross-action claiming the plaintiffs against the commission had violated or intended to violate commission rules.

Judge Bryant refused to grant the cross-actions at the time on grounds there was no evidence that those named in the procedure had violated or intended to violate the commission rules.

Upchurch now alleges that the commission's allowance was exceeded during April by concerns and amounts as follows:

Peoples Petroleum Producers and E. M. Merren, trustees, 80,000 barrels.

Gordon MacMillan, approximately 20,000 barrels.

Bill and Dave Oil Corporation, 11,000 barrels.

Lide-Royce, 15,000 barrels.

Lide-Taylor, 17,000 barrels.

Upchurch said he was preparing to file petitions for injunctions against five other operators in the field, alleging they had exceeded the allowable by 159,000 barrels.

olov, who assassinated President Doumer, was described today by the head of the French secret service as a "member of a bolshevik organization."

Who was arrested yesterday, the man admitted he was a member of a "bolshevik" organization which was opposed to bolshevism by killing President Doumer, he said, he hoped to involve France in a war with Soviet Russia.

The first statement by the police yesterday said the prisoner was not in possession of all his faculties but was sane and intelligent. He was examined by a doctor and pronounced sane and responsible for his crime. Shortly after that he was arraigned before a magistrate and was charged with the assassination of President Doumer.

Monday the court will appoint an attorney for the defense.

Doumer Was Of Humble Origin

PARIS, May 7.—(P)—Son of a railway worker, Paul Doumer, an early age, self-educated, the fierce struggle, Paul Doumer at 74 was elected the thirteenth president of the Third French Republic.

His colleagues of the senate and former colleagues of the chamber of deputies, who composed the electoral body, preferred the austere, bearded, austere old gentleman to the more famous and eloquent foreign minister, Aristide Briand.

It was the second time that Doumer had held the office of the presidency. In 1906 when he was president of the chamber of deputies, he ran against Armand Fallieres, then president of the senate, who was elected by the chamber.

His induction into the presidency crowned a career that had its genesis in the efforts of the son of a section boss on a railway to bet his money on the stock market. He was born in poverty, which became real poverty when his father died while the future president was still in grammar school.

He was still in grammar school when his father died. He was apprenticed to an engraver. He studied at night, won his education and became a school teacher. Forsaking that profession for newspaper work, he gravitated to politics, specialized in finance and was made minister of that department.

Next he was sent to Indo-China as governor general, making a name for himself as an administrator through seven strenuous years of that troubled colony. On his return he was re-elected to the chamber of deputies and three years later was chosen president of the lower house.

He was holding that office when Fallieres, then president of the senate, defeated him for the presidency of the republic. In 1912 Corsica was the scene of a tragedy. The war years took heavy toll of the Doumer family. Three of his five sons were killed in battle and four died soon after the armistice. His only daughter, a stricken father was busy through the war with minor government posts, although he held a ministry without portfolio in the Fallieres cabinet.

Doumer was in eclipse then until 1921, when Briand as premier, made him minister of finance. He held the same office in another Briand government in 1925 and in 1927 was made president of the senate.

To Open Campaign

WASHINGTON, May 6.—(P)—President Hoover is going to carry to the country the drive he opened yesterday on congress for prompt balancing of the budget.

A new statement directed to the public is in preparation at the White House.

The president is represented by advisers as determined to go through for vigorous and prompt action on capitol hill.

He called in leaders during the day, including Senator Watson of Indiana, the majority chiefs.

The senate finance committee once again revised the tax bill, but this time along compromise lines advocated by Secretary Mills and designed to raise $1,500,000,000. The vote was 13 to 1 with many modifications of the measure at it stood.

On a 15 to 10 vote, the house ways and means committee turned thumbs down on all plans for cashing the veterans' bonus. This legislation was cited by the president yesterday as a contributing factor to uncertainty.

By contrast, there was no guarantee of easy going on any of the matters pressing in congress. Dissent from the administration stand burst forth in the senate, with Nye (R., Or.) declaring "propagandists" have driven the measure into a hysteria of effort to balance the budget.

The president shortly after 5 p. m. S. T., today, will make a statement, seeking to gain support throughout the country behind the militant drive started in his special message to congress yesterday.

WASHINGTON, May 6.—(P)—In emphatic and plain language, President Hoover yesterday demanded of congress that it enact an effective budget-balancing program without further ado.

By contrasting specific acts, he accused the democratic-majority house of representatives of undermining public confidence and up-doing benefits of the reconstruction program.

By contrast with the usual laudatorial reception of presidential messages, this one lashed both branches of congress into an immediate fury, evoking from the democratic leaders bitter words of blame for the government's misdeeds, drawing from administration supporters equally sharp recriminations.

Boiled down, what the president demanded was that an adequate and equitable tax bill be enacted that expenditures be reduced by $700,000,000 or more, partly through giving him legal authority to reorganize the government with a free hand. He demanded that the appropriations cut be accompanied by authority to shift amounts between bureaus to prevent inhuman deprivations of thousands of government employees.

He accused the house of damaging popular morale by its destruction of the original tax program. A passage of a $122,000,000 road building bill, passing the senate, would have been a disaster to widows and orphan pensioners while refusing to sanction cuts in allowances for ex-soldiers as provided by the economy bill; virtual destruction of the latter measure; failure to make a budget; reduction of government bureaus and commissions; passing a bill ordering the federal reserve board and the treasury to peg the value of the dollar to the gold standard through the bonus or other legislative legislation, of enacting laws looking to uncontrolled inflation.

Opening Campaign Speech.
To this indictment the democratic floor leaders, including Mr. Hiram Johnson, jumped up with the charge that this was the president's "first speech in his campaign for reelection." The senate leader, Robinson of Arkansas, took the floor to say the budget measure was itself in never would have developed if the administration had not made unaccountable errors in presenting its estimates of the revenue needed so that not general advice, but specific suggestions were required.

They met with ready and hot replies. Representative Snell, republican leader, said campaign material for the democrats would "have to answer" for the present situation. Senator Reed (R., Pa.) told Robinson the difficult suggestions had been presented often enough but that congressional courtesy was lacking. In the ensuing debate he observed that "if this country ever needed a Mussolini, it needs it now."

JUST FOLKS
IF IN THE END,
If in the end all things prove well,
We must all failures here and there,
Or hours of anguish and despair,
Or the rough ground on which we fell?
If out of trial's darkening spell
We come at last to sunsets fair
And find the peace which follows
care,
We'll have adventurous tales to tell.
'Tis this which adds to life its zest:
The future's an unwritten book,
And into it 'tis vain to look.
One never knows what's worst or best.
Upon our cares we'll proudly dwell,
If in the end all things prove well.

Speaking of Bonuses ---By Clive Weed

HOOVER ADMINISTRATION SPENDING $5,000,000 MORE DAILY THAN HIS INCOME

In a recent address on the subject of "Taxes and Appropriations," Senator C. C. Dill of Washington state, declared at the outset that "the cause of high taxes is big Government expenditures."

In the last five years, he said, the incomes of the people decreased from seventy-five billion to fifty billion of dollars. Asserting that Government expenditures during this period should have been reduced or at the worst should have continued the same, he gave the following table of increased expenditures by the Government from 1927 to 1932:

Department	1927	1932 (Est.)
Army and Navy	$875	$981
Interior	59	81
Commerce	31	54
Treasury	121	312
Agriculture	156	333
Justice	24	58
P. O. and Marine	28	109
Veterans	391	784

The average increase for all departments, Senator Dill said, for the last five years was 63 per cent, or a total increase of $1,231,000,000.

"A Republican Congress passed all of these appropriation bills; a Republican President signed them, and Republican Cabinet members spent the money," he declared.

After calling attention to the deficits of $900,000,000 last year and $2,000,000,000 this year, with the prospect of $3,000,000,000 next year unless expenditures are cut and new taxes provided, he pointed out that right now expenditures are $5,000,000 a day more than the revenues.

Senator Dill then spoke of the Administration's failure to retrench in the face of the 1929 panic. He said: "When Congress met in December, 1929, the panic was already nearly three months old. That was a warning. Instead of cutting appropriations the President and Congress increased them for both 1930 and 1931. The result was a deficit of $1,000,000,000. It was not until the people rebuked the Administration by electing a Democratic House of Representatives that the Administration started retrenching.

"Let us see just what the President has done and what Congress is doing to save the Government from bankruptcy. Budget appropriations were $3,782,000,000. The President recommended in the budget that Congress make a 11 per cent reduction, or $413,000,000 for the year of 1932. The Democrats in 1932, when the House was elected, were not satisfied with that. It cut not only the $413,000,000 which the President recommended, but $128,000,000 more. That made a total of more than half the appropriations of last year.

"When these bills came to the Senate, Senator McKellar, a Democrat from Tennessee, made a motion to cut 10 per cent more from the amounts approved by the House. The Senate has adopted that motion as to three of the large appropriation bills. If the Senate continues to make these cuts, it will cut $275,000,000 below the combined cuts of the President and the House of Representatives. These combined reductions would amount to $800,000,000. That will cut $413,000,000 below the total increase in expenditures from 1927 to 1932.

"Although the President says he favors these additional cuts by Congress, his Cabinet officers are not co-operating with the Senate to make these cuts. In fact, some of the Cabinet officers are attacking Congress for these big reductions. What the President should do is to tell his Cabinet officers that he expects them to carry out the orders of Congress, and limit their expenditures to the sums appropriated. Then if they fail to do so, he should fire them."

Concerning the proposed salary cut and the opposition thereto Senator Dill said opposition was coming from many sources which had been loudest in demanding retrenchment—Chambers of commerce, leaders of farm organizations and persons who oppose closing a Government office in their town or delaying work on a new Federal building, or other matters in which they are interested. Senator Dill closed by saying:

"When we have a President and a Congress who will make money for the people, we will have confidence again in the business of the country. When we have a President and a Congress who will make money for the people, we will have confidence again in the business of the country."

SAYS HOOVER'S AIDS PETTIFOGG ON ECONOMY.

Government officials who render "lip service" to the causes of economy and then oppose measures that are offered to cut expenditures are taken to task by the Chicago Tribune (Rep.), and warned that the people are becoming resentful of such "pettifogging." That paper says:

"Secretary Wilbur followed by Secretary Mills and now a high Administration official" have raised their voices in opposition to the Senate's proposal of a blanket reduction of 10 per cent in departmental appropriations. It is said that these cuts, in combination with the other proposals to reduce official wages and salaries, will increase the number of unemployed by a hundred thousand and at the same time will force a reduction of Government pay by much more than the 10 or 11 per cent now contemplated.

"The taxpayers observe this maneuvering with growing resentment. All over the country citizens are organizing to demand tax reductions through governmental economy. Government officials, both legislative and executive, have been unable to ignore the swelling demand and are giving lip service to the cause, but the suspicion will not down that their hearts are not in the work. Consciously or subconsciously, they are resisting. They are employing a favorite method of politicians in circumventing the popular will.

"The method consists of agreeing on the general principle while raising endless objections to specific proposals intended to achieve the end. This kind of pettifogging often succeeds in achieving its purpose. It permits each participant in the game to declare in resounding phrases his undying attachment to the cause and later to work for the defeat of a plan to achieve the desired end. Often public opinion is confused by these deceptive tactics, and often, too, the pressure of public opinion becomes relaxed.

"If that is the game being played in Washington these days the players are destined for a rude surprise. The demand for economy is not limited to a narrow section of society or a narrow section of the country. Citizens want their taxes reduced not only because they think their government is wasteful, but more especially because they know the burden of government costs is bringing ruin upon the country at an appalling rate. They know that if all the retrenchments proposed were adopted the loss to the country as a whole in reduced government service would not be great; and, more than that, they know that any losses would be overbalanced many times over in freeing industry, agriculture, and commerce from the crushing overhead of taxation.

"There is no point upon which the people of the country, and particularly the leaders of public opinion, are more united today. It is safe to say that there is no other point upon which they are as determined to obtain results. Time, which usually is on the side of the pettifoggers, today is operating on the side of the public. Every day powerful and influential organizations of citizens are adding their demands for economy tariff walls and establish a basis of exchange so that our money is on a basis of value equal to the money of other nations, we shall have world trade again. Until these changes can be brought about, the best thing to do is to reduce Government expenditures and avoid new taxes."

A SILVER SUGGESTION

An important contribution to the silver question has been made in a letter to Rep. Somers, of New York, chairman of the house coinage committee, from Sir Robert Horne and L. S. Amery, of England. Sir Robert Horne was chancellor of the exchequer in one of the Lloyd George cabinets after the war; Mr. Amery was secretary for the Dominions under Mr. Baldwin. Both are authoritative men in the field of finance.

They agree that anything that can be done to stabilize and increase the price of silver would add greatly to the purchasing power of the Orient, and thus be good for Western trade. They believe the amount of effort necessary to that end has been exaggerated; that Great Britain, India, Mexico and the United States, if they could agree, could stabilize silver, and that other countries would fall into line. They consider it important that to the extent of two-thirds of its total production silver is a by-product; therefore stabilization would not be conducive to greater production of silver for its own sake, and its price could be maintained without strain.

On the other hand, Sir Robert Horne and Mr. Amery do not advise bimetalism. "Any system under which silver would once more become unlimited legal tender" is not contemplated by them. "Some fixed ratio for the purposes of domestic currency reserves and of international exchange," as indicated by Rep. Somers, is tentatively favored.

The fact that two such prominent figures in Great Britain have commented so favorably on a plan for stabilizing silver and increasing its purchasing power would seem to indicate that something could be done along these lines without disturbing the gold standard and without reviving the question of bimetalism. Congress and the administration evidently are expected to give the matter further attention.

to those already registered. The movement is irresistible and the sooner the fact is realized in Congress and the executive offices the better for all concerned."

No, the campaign to put hoarded Democrats back to work is not a part of the Hoover anti-hoarding movement.

DUTY OF A PROSECUTOR.

The savage conduct of the trial of four Americans charged with murder in Hawaii seems to justify the observation that reform is due in methods of prosecution. It perhaps is unfortunate that the state's attorney is named a prosecutor. There is a suggestion in the word that tends to urge certain types of functionaries beyond the legitimate requirements of their duty to the public good. To such the idea of prosecuting seems to imply the necessity of conviction without regard to the guilt or innocence of the accused. Convictions become tokens of official success.

Quite on the contrary, from the point of view of ideal judicial service, the prosecutor, in common with the judge, should have but one aim—the accurate and certain administration of justice. In the trial of a cause in which the life and liberty of an accused person is in jeopardy, no official representing the state has a right to seek other than the careful, candid presentation of the truth. He is engaged in no contest of wits in which he is bound to win by putting his opponent at disadvantage.

Those tricks of oratory or dramatic display tending to confuse or mislead the minds of the jury have no place in the prosecutor's equipment. He should be as keenly alert to discover facts favoring the accused as those incriminating him. His only concern should be that the facts are relevant and clearly established.

If other practice is followed by prosecuting officers, the ends of justice too often will be defeated and innocent victims of circumstance will be subjected to penalties of the law. The principle must be established that those who are chosen to serve the state in the administration of justice act always in strict fairness.

THE HEFLIN SHOW

The five-hour spectacle staged in the senate by J. Thomas Heflin was just another typical Heflin exhibition. Representative McDuffie, from Heflin's home state, characterized it as the "wild vapors of a defeated candidate." Mr. Heflin was making his final plea to unseat Senator Bankhead who defeated him last fall.

The only excuse for permitting Mr. Heflin to address the senate—in itself a most unusual procedure—was that he might have no further comeback when the vote was taken. The elections committee had already recommended that the Heflin claims be turned down and Senator Bankhead be duly confirmed. The senate followed the committee's recommendations. Certainly Mr. Heflin's "wild vapors" about fraud and corruption were not borne out in the committee's findings. But he did put on a good show, of its kind. Perhaps that was why he was allowed to talk through almost a full day's session. Senators must have their amusement.

NEW MODEL FARM RELIEF

What would a presidential campaign be like without a farm relief program? And yet, with a federal farm board and several million dollars worth of government-owned farm surplus on hand as a hold-over from the former farm relief agitation, new offerings seem to require considerable ingenuity.

Senator Elmer Thomas, of Oklahoma, has made several attempts, his latest being a bill said to be sponsored by a national farmers' organization. By this measure the secretary of agriculture and the farm board would be empowered to estimate yearly the probable domestic consumption and production and thus fix an average cost of products to the farmers. Authority is given to set a minimum price on farm-grown commodities sold for domestic consumption and to regulate distribution on a pro rata basis among farmers.

It presents an ambitious program capable of persuasive elaboration in campaign speeches. That it does not provide for disposal of surpluses which might result from a combination of favorable seasons and zeal of the farmers guaranteed their reward, may be regarded perhaps as a necessary defect of all such proposals.

April 8, about the complaint for the alleged conspiracy to commit arson allege the conspiracy was made Sunday, May 1, 1932.

Bond in the sum of $1000 in each of three cases against Pearl E. Stegall were set early Friday afternoon following a conference of defense and state attorneys, but at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon Sheriff Rufus Pevehouse had not approved the bond. It is expected in courthouse circles that Stegall will be released from the county jail during the afternoon, but no official announcement was made at the sheriff's office.

State, county and precinct officers continued the investigations Friday incident to the Kerens happenings. Hollifield, Crane and Gilbert were formally charged by complaint in the Wednesday morning case Thursday afternoon. They were arrested Wednesday. The two Stegalls were charged Wednesday morning and arrested at Glade-water Wednesday afternoon by Sheriff Pevehouse and Deputy Constable Bud Burleson of Kerens.

Norris Lovett and B. W. George have been employed as defense attorneys by the two Stegalls and Gilbert. It is expected efforts will be made for the release of the other two Saturday or Sunday.

Efforts were made late Thursday and Friday morning to arrange bond for the Stegalls and Gilbert, but the Jordan declined to get bond at that time as neither had been arraigned before him.

Cleo G. Miller, criminal district attorney, was continuing his investigation along with the county officers and J. F. Justice, Austin, and James Byrne, Fort Worth, both deputy state fire marshals. Sheriff Pevehouse and other officers were in Glade-water Friday morning, returning noon Friday.

To Be Presented Grand Jury

Criminal District Attorney Miller states the cases will be presented to the Navarro county grand jury Tuesday morning and in the event indictments are returned Tuesday will probably set the cases down for trial in the Thirteenth judicial district court, Friday, May 13, one week from today.

Gilbert was wounded in both legs Wednesday morning in a shooting scrape at Kerens in which he and county officers engaged. He was reported to have been shot at Night-watchman Kilgore of Kerens with an automatic shotgun and when his gun jammed, ran, but was shot by Sheriff Rufus Pevehouse. His wounds are not serious. Mr. Justice was struck in the left thigh by one shot that is thought to have glanced from one of the buildings during the gun battle.

Senator Norris States Will Not Support Hoover

WASHINGTON, May 6.—(P)—That veteran independent war-horse from the wide open spaces of the northwest, Senator George W. Norris of Nebraska, will bolt the republican pasture once again to support Franklin D. Roosevelt if the democrats nominate him. He gave assurance last night that he would back the New Yorker even as in 1928 he stump-ed for Alfred E. Smith against President Hoover.

"History," he said, "has demonstrated that I was right in opposing him (Hoover) four years ago. In the same breath, he pledged his own support and practically that of the Louisiana delegation of 20 to Roosevelt."

PITTS GRATEFUL FOR INFORMATION SENT TO CONGRESS

Appreciation for the efforts of Corsicana and Navarro county citizens in informing representatives in congress on the needs of continuing vocational agriculture work was expressed Friday by D. B. Pitts, teacher of vocational agriculture in the State Home.

"We are indeed grateful for the cooperation which the people of our community gave us in informing our congressmen of the needs of our state for vocational education," said Mr. Pitts, as he recalled that congress had voted 5 to 1 to continue the vocational funds, when the measure to cancel the program was deleted from the economy program.

"Vocational education in our state will now continue on its present basis, and we feel much encouraged over the status of this program. The many messages which our friends have sent out in the past few weeks will cause us to strive for greater accomplishments in our work," said the instructor.

BENGALS ANNEXED DISTRICT TITLES IN FOUR EVENTS

WILSON CLOSED CAREER BY ANNEXING STATE TRACK HONORS

BY PAUL MOORE
Sun Sports Editor.

Corsicana high school is closing the most brilliant athletic season in the history of the local institution and in looking back over the season's performance, it is easily seen that the Bengals have done well, winning four district championships.

Beginning with the football season, when only a slight clue reported minus the great luminous sun, the Bengals, all-American guard; Hornback and Hightower, quarters; Clark, fullback; Ross, half; Richardson, tackle; and others—the Bengals, composed of a bunch of scrappers, tied into one of the toughest schedules with a win. Averaging only 158 pounds per man, the Tigers flashed one of the most bewildering and tricky offenses ever perfected by a high school aggregation that carried them to the semi-finals in the interscholastic league race, going down fighting viciously and courageously at Beaumont in the mud and mire soaked field. They resembled a swamp more than it did a gridiron. We firmly believe that Corsicana could have won on a dry field, but are not trying to alibi for that defeat. Any club that can't win in the mud can't win the state championship. The Tigers went down fighting—giving their every ounce of strength in a supreme effort to stem the tide, and the writer as well as the several hundred Corsicans who made the trip to Beaumont were extremely proud of the Tigers in defeat.

Double Wing Back Attack.
Highland Park, Hillsboro, Temple, Waco, Cleburne, Tyler, Austin, Waxahachie, Mexia and other clubs fell before those double-wing back formations, with the squirming, swerving and backsprings down the field in their striped jerseys.

The coaching ability of John A. Pierce, Jake Hanna and J. F. Gardner was emphasized in the 1931 eleven, and it was a really fine-coached team.

Cagers Did Well.
Beginning the cage season under the direction of Coach Gardner, with only a small bunch of boys and few letters, getting away to a late start as the season progressed, the Bengals steadily improved during their play in the Big Four league and then proceeded to scrap their way through the county and district championships through sheer fight and determination. The Tigers won the bi-district honors and went to the state tournament, losing in the first round. From the state tournament, the Bengals were eliminated. It was clearly demonstrated that Gardner is a worthy successor to O. P. Douglas as a cage mentor when he sent his little charges into the state tournament as Bardwell is in this district.

Took Tennis Titles.
Miss Catherine Whitten coached tennis and the Corsicana High singles performers Dill Cole and Miss Frances Harliee, bi-district champions. Dill lost in the first round to Taylor of Austin last week-end, but Taylor won the state championship. Miss Harliee lost in the semi-finals but her conquest also annexed the state title.

Some Interesting Facts About Our
Texas Bluebonnet

A MAY DAY PLEDGE
It's Wildflower Day throughout the land. Let's join the wildflower savor's band. And pledge ourselves to Nature's need. By helping to observe her laws: Let's show our love for everything That blooms to please us in the spring. By plucking it with the greatest care. Our wild bouquets, and leave a share. Of flowers so they can seed, And germinate for next year's need. Let's pledge ourselves to leave the roots. And all the tender, budding shoots. So they can grow for other May's. And gladden other flower days; Let's leave a heritage of joys. For flower-loving girls and boys. Who in the years to come will bless Us for our care and thoughtfulness.

—Maud Wood Henry.

Lupinus Texensis, Bluebonnet, Blue Lupin, Buffalo Clover, El Conejo, Wolf Flower. These are a few of the names that have been given to the Texas Blue Bonnet.

Bluebonnet, because it favors the feminine head gear. Buffalo Clover, because it is supposed to have been eaten by the buffalo that ranged the prairies. El Conejo, because the unfolding buds at the tip look like the tail of the cotton tail rabbit.

Wolf Flower, because they were once thought to impoverish the soil, for the reason that the flowers stay such a short time in one place.

The Bluebonnet belongs to the pea family, and is a leguminous plant. The knot-like formations on the plant roots are nodules of nitrogen, and we know that nitrogen is one of the best fertilizers known to man. Hence instead of impoverishing the soil and rendering it sterile, the plants in fact, enrich the soil to such an extent that they seem to burn it.

Bluebonnets are dependent upon their seeds for perpetuation. They are migratory plants; the seeds blow on the new, poor soil and the plants thrive for a few years, until they have put too much nitrogen into the soil for their own good.

The Daughters of the Republic of Texas were responsible for the Bluebonnet, being made the state flower of Texas. It was officially so declared on the 7th day of March, 1901.

Fields being put into cultivation, and highways for easy travel have done a lot toward exterminating the Bluebonnet. But even if these odds, they are still their own worst enemy. However, if people can be made to realize that the Bluebonnet must be allowed to go to seed, and the seed must ripen and blow away or the flowers will be exterminated, they the people, will not so ruthlessly pick and pull every time they see a lovely patch.

Let's remember that the beauties of the earth are only loaned us for pleasure during our sojourn here, and that those who come after us have the same rights as we have now.

The above interesting information regarding our beautiful Bluebonnets was contributed to this page by Mrs. R. B. Molloy, than whom there is no greater lover of Corsicana, and things beautiful in Corsicana.

Orphanage Paper Remembers the Late Abe Mulkey and Wife

The last issue of the Sunshine Monthly, the official publication of the Methodist Orphanage, Waco, was devoted to the memory of the orphanage from 1890 to 1932, and dedicated to the former managers and their wives. Among the ones mentioned and mentioned were two beloved Corsicans, the late Rev. Abe Mulkey and Mrs. Louisa Mulkey. The following excerpts will be of special interest to their many friends here:

Uncle Abe and Aunt Lou. The Vaughn's had not been long in the work before the Reverend Abe Mulkey and his wife, Louisa Mulkey became interested, and without much of an invitation put their shoulders to the wheel for the Orphanage, and for over twenty years never slackened in their activities for it. During the years 1897-1898 this saintly pair, almost single-handed, "Preached, Prayed, and Sung Up" a splendid new building, which has since been known as the Orphanage Administration Building. The storms of thirty-two winters have worn themselves out on this building, and yet it stands as firm as the noble work of the Mulkeys. Hundreds of boys and girls have been warmed and comforted within its walls that are now citizens of this state and other states, all of which remember "Uncle Abe and Aunt Lou."

They were the real financial agents of the Home for a number of years, without pay or hope of material reward. They gave their lives for the children, and they who knew them. The children always greeted them with open, loving arms, and it stands without saying, "They will never be forgotten by the children who came in contact with them directly or by those who are now carrying the torch that has been flung to them by those who have gone on before."

Loyalty of the Mulkeys. Not only did Uncle Abe and Aunt Lou preach, pray, and sing up the Administration Building, but they were busy constantly wherever they went in the interest of the Home. Hardy as the vice passed that Brother Mulkey did not mention his one subject (The Orphanage) that was so close to his heart. Then again, as the years passed this evangelistic pair saw the need of a hospital in the Home, so they set their hearts on raising the funds to build it, and the hospital now stands as a result of their efforts, having been built in 1918. The entrance pergola to the Home was also given by these loyal friends. Up until his death, Brother Mulkey was active in the interests of the institution that he and Sister Mulkey adopted at the close of the 19th century. In recent years Aunt Lou has been confined to her home in Corsicana, Texas, but even to this day love messages are received from her that all of the Orphanage folk appreciate.

JAIL IS CROWDED WITH DOUKHOBORS PARADING IN NUDE

NELSON, B. C., May 9.—(P)—The capacity of Nelson jail was taxed to the limit today by 209 Doukhobors arrested at Thrums yesterday on a charge of parading in the nude.

The jail already had as prisoners 118 members of the sect arrested a week ago and sentenced to three years each in prison.

Three more yesterday were found in the same orchard where the clash between the nudists and police occurred a week ago. Nine were men, 52 were women and 167 were children under 14 years of age. All will be charged with appearing in the nude in a public place.

Those arrested yesterday offered no resistance. Police surrounded them in the orchard and as trucks arrived the nudists scrambled aboard voluntarily and truck load after truck load set off for the jail.

Still Captured With Three Men

FAIRFIELD, May 7.—(Sp.)—Tuesday morning federal and local officers surprised and captured three white men working at a still a few miles northeast of town. Charges were filed against the men here and they were released on bond.

CLASHES FEATURE TRUCK HEARING AT GALVESTON MONDAY

RAILROADS PRESENT SOLID
FRONT AGAINST INTER-STATE PERMITS

GALVESTON, May 9.—(P)—The railway presented a solid front today in opposition to applications for permits to operate in interstate commerce, which are sought by two Galveston truck line companies seeking before the Texas railway commission. The hearing is in the nature of a test case to determine the authority of the commission to grant or deny interstate permits.

The applicant is the Galveston Truck Line Corporation and R. J. Barry, owner of the Texas Trucking Exchange. These concerns had previously been denied permits to operate within the state. The alleged ground for their braking equipment was inadequate and constituted a highway hazard. A large number of railway officials, truck manufacturers, truck operators and chamber of commerce executives are attending.

Mark Marshall, chief of the motor transportation division of the commission, is presiding. Under a recent federal decision the commission must confine consideration of applications to the safety of equipment. The opening session was featured by clashes between Herbert Smith, president of the Railway General Manager's Association of Texas, and the first witness, R. J. Barry.

ALLEGED DIPLOMAT IS FIRED BUT WILL NOT STAY THAT WAY

WASHINGTON, May 9.—(P)—The state department announced it had dropped Christian Gross from the diplomatic service but Christian Gross replied today that it had not.

The Chicagoan, who department officials say was absent without leave for many months from his post as second secretary of the legation at Ottawa, said he would ask Secretary Stimson to review the case as soon as he gets back from Europe.

He denied he had taken any "unauthorized absence without leave" and said he was advised the state department action was a "clear violation of the law."

Gross obtained his position to go to Chicago for a court case in which he was judged the father of the youngest child of his former wife, born after their divorce. His company in the department announcement that he was "separated" from the service, Gross said he offered his resignation two years ago but "was persuaded to stay with the assurance that the domestic situation which was developing regarding by children need not deter me from continuing my career."

MANAGER TEXAS COTTON CO-OP IS FRIENDLY TO BOARD

DALLAS, May 9.—(P)—R. J. Murray, general manager of the Texas Cotton Co-Operative Association, declared today that efforts of the farm board subsidiaries to "peg" cotton prices have not been "attempts at inflation, as has been charged by enemies of co-operation."

In an address before the annual meeting of the association, he defended the activities and policies of the co-operatives from what he described as malicious attacks of those who "have no desire to improve the condition of agriculture."

He said stabilization efforts of the farm board have been successful despite vigorous "propaganda to the contrary, and that all cotton producers, members and non-members of the co-operatives, have been benefitted immeasurably.

The problem of the co-operatives at this time is better education of farmers regarding the aims of the organization, he said.

Goings and Comings Of Fairfield Folk And Their Visitors

FAIRFIELD, May 7.—(Sp.)—Mrs. A. D. Anderson and Mrs. Raymond Bennett and daughter, Miss Mary, of Dallas, and Mrs. J. Ross Bell, of Teague, visited the Anderson families here Tuesday.

Miss Viola Emmons was operated on in the Teague hospital Monday for appendicitis.

Ruby, son of John Baker, was operated on at Teague Tuesday night for appendicitis.

Inclement weather conditions during the week-end caused the postponement of the completion of the second round of the city-county golf tournament and the golfers will resume the elimination play as soon as the course is dry enough. A large number of golfers will be in action over the course late Monday in the event the weather clears.

Several local women plan to attend and compete in the Texas women's golf tournament that started in Fort Worth Monday.

Dill Cole, Corsicana tennis singles player, lost in the first round of play to Jack Taylor of Austin, but Taylor then turned the singles championship. Frances Harliee lost in the semi-finals to Charlotte McQuiston of North Dallas and the Dallas lass then won the singles championship, proving the Corsicana players did not do so bad as they were eliminated by the state champions.

Home run hitters Saturday included Aler, Texas University; 2; Koy, Texas University; Howie, Texas University; Owens, Wichita Falls; Taub, Beaumont; Mueller, Shreveport; Reynolds, Washington; Stone, Detroit; Cissell, Cleveland; Fox, Philadelphia Athletics; Vonn, Cleveland; Cochran, Philadelphia Athletics.

Robert Wilson, all-round athlete, closed his Corsicana high school athletic career Saturday afternoon in a blaze of glory when he won first place in the broad jump at the State high school track and field meet in Austin. He jumped 22 feet 8 1/2 inches.

Wilson has been named on the all-state football mythical eleven at a halfback position for the past two years, and is a pretty fair track team member. He won the track in district last year with 13 points and this year was high point man with 13 1/4 points.

He developed into a fine basketball player during the past winter, being forward on the Tiger five that went to the state final tournament in Austin, and now has taken up golf. He is an athlete who plays his best and has plenty of ability. Wilson does not play anything mechanically but depends to win in anything he undertakes. He will go to some Texas college next fall, and who knows, he may be another Jack Wilson of the Southwest conference gridirons in 1933.

ESTABLISHMENT OF WAGES ON FEDERAL WORK IS OPPOSED

WASHINGTON, May 9.—(P)—Charging that it would "rob the workers of their freedom," Attorney General Clegg today opposed the Seamen's Union, today opposed the Metcalf bill to establish prevailing wage scales on government works.

Furushet insisted before the house labor committee that under present law the secretary of labor, in the event of disputes, has authority only to say what the prevailing wage scale is, but that under the Metcalf bill he would be empowered to "say what it ought to be."

"This is a round about way of setting wages by legislation," Furushet said.

John Gray, representing the metal trades department of the American Federation of Labor, urged

Negro Sought in Assault and Murder Mississippi Woman

GRENADE, Miss., May 9.—(P)—A young negro laborer was hunted today for criminally assaulting and murdering Mrs. Minnie Barbee, elderly widowed landowner. Sheriff Carpenter said a neighbor reported seeing the negro enter Mrs. Barbee's home about 6 p. m. Saturday, four hours before the 55-year-old woman's body was found by a servant. The laborer, officers said, used several names, one of which was Clarence Williams.

Sheriff Carpenter learned Mrs. Barbee had been afraid of Williams but had given him work, evidently in the hope of preventing trouble.

The bill be amended so the secretary of labor would not be required to determine the prevailing wage scale before government contracts for ships were granted.

STOCK MARKETS IN HESITANT MOOD AS NEW WEEK STARTED

SPECULATIVE ATTENTION FASTENED ON WASH- INGTON; NO NEW STIMULI

NEW YORK, May 9.—(AP)—The stock market was barely able to hold up its head in a little session today. Closing prices were largely unchanged to a point lower, with a few wider losses. The closing tone was somewhat heavy. Transfers were only about 700,000 shares.

NEW YORK, May 9.—(AP)—Securities markets started the new week in a hesitant mood today. Week-end trade stimulus failed to produce any new stimulus, and speculative attention remained riveted on Washington. There remained an undertone of buttermilk sentiment, carried over from the upturn Friday.

Prices worked slightly higher in the first hour, eased off in the late morning and stiffened again after midday, ruling slightly under Saturday's close by early afternoon. Rails and utilities had an inauspicious start, with issues selling off 1 to 2 points were New York Central, Santa Fe, Southern Pacific, People's Gas, North American, Public Service of N. J. and American Telephone and Telegraph. Recoveries by early afternoon. Eastman was a soft spot, off 3 at the lowest. U. S. Steel sold off 1/2 fraction, then recovered. General Motors was about steady. The outstanding item of corporate news for the day was General Motors' report of April sales, showing sales to consumers in the United States of $1,573 cars, as compared with $1,477 in March. On the whole, current reports from motor circles remain mildly cheerful, with indications that this month will see the largest production for the industry in eight months.

Curb Market Listless
NEW YORK, May 9.—(AP)—The curb market was listless and without much trend today. Issues which recently have held the leadership continued to show the largest turnovers but there was little evidence of troublesome liquidation.

It was felt in brokerage circles that the market faced a tentative and a reaction to sales after last week's advance would provide the clue as to immediate price movements. Swift International retraced some of the ground it had recovered Friday and Saturday. Issues which traded in fairly large volume, Swift & Co. stock, however, was steady. Singer Manufacturing was a trifle uneasy, duplicating last week's low in the forenoon when some stock was offered in odd lot amounts. American Electric Bond & Share met good support and spent most of the day in fractionally higher ground. American Gas moved upward at the opening but more than lost its gains. Fracturing of wells in the major fractions of the Gulf Coast. Prudential and Commonwealth Edison were heavy spots. Consolidated Gas of Baltimore ruled firm.

There was less activity in the oil. Some price concessions were made, but the market generally retained its improved market position.

IN MEMORY
On the 26th day of April, 1932, in the early morning of the morning that precedes the dawn of a new born day the spirit of our friend and neighbor, Aaron Ware, laid aside the encumbering garment of this world, his mortal body, and took its flight into the vast realms of the glorious and never ending forever.

His body was laid to rest in the late afternoon of the same day in the Hopewell cemetery. Sorrowing relatives and friends paid their last tribute to him with many beautiful floral offerings that were tenderly and graciously placed on the mound above where he shall rest until that day of unspeakable joy when the dead in Christ shall rise and together with those who still walk the pathway of life shall be caught up to meet our Savior in the air. What immeasurable happiness shall be ours when we shall see Aaron again with all our loved ones who have gone on before what joy supreme when we shall walk the earth again with them with our blessed Redeemer as our King.

Aaron was a Christian and a gentleman. No higher tribute can be paid any man. He shall always live in our memory as he lived with us, a quiet, gentle and unassuming character, a friend who won for him innumerable friends in the community where he lived for so many years.

He was a kind hearted and any one who has known him or any one who has been in his home or any one who has been in his family has felt the rare charm and the winning personality of the old-time Southern gentleman. He was a true gentleman, the heritage of the South of yesterday and his gentleness of manner and true Southern hospitality is best exemplified by the state in which he was born. SCOUT OFFICIAL MAIN SPEAKER FOR ROTARIANS MONDAY

DIRECTORS FOR ENSUING YEAR ELECTED LUNCHEON SESSION MONDAY</

HEAVY RAINFALL IN CORSICANA AREA DURING 48 HOURS

HEAVY DOWNPOURS DAMAGED FARM LANDS SOME SECTIONS OF COUNTY

Rainfall in Corsicana for the 48 hour period ending at 7 o'clock Monday morning was 3.70 inches of which 2.25 fell Saturday and 1.45 Sunday. Heavy showers fell at intervals throughout Saturday. Sunday night, Sunday and Sunday night, the rains Sunday and Sunday night were more severe than Saturday. In some sections only light showers fell Saturday.

Land in some sections was badly washed, particularly where the soil had been recently plowed. The rain assures an oat crop and helped other growing crops, particularly corn. Gardens were benefited.

Some cotton that was recently planted will probably have to be replanted particularly in the sections where the rain was heaviest as the land was badly packed and the amount of rain was so great that the small plants will be compared with the amount planted.

Crops in all sections of the county were out of banks Monday. Rain was at the water level crossing was out over the lowlands and it was rapidly rising near Richland. Chambers creek was also out of banks Monday. Some of the smaller streams had already gone down Monday morning.

Travel over lateral roads was difficult Sunday and Monday. Total rainfall for the year is 11.28 inches divided as follows: January 7.72; February 4.01; March 2.04; April 3.79 and May 3.70.

Rain in Freestone.
FAIRFIELD, May 9.—(Sp.)—An inch and a half rain fell generally over Freestone county yesterday, according to the official weather gauge today.

The rain was reported to benefit all crops, but will delay cotton chopping a few days. No damage in panning or washing the soil was reported.

Hard Rain at Kerens.
KERENS, May 9.—(Sp.)—A hard blowing rain fell over this part of the county Sunday after-noon, badly washing land, tearing down levees and putting a stop to all farm work for at least a week.

The rain was not needed as sufficient moisture was already in the ground.

Some cotton has yet to be planted while some has been chopped and plowed out. Corn, oats and small grains are doing nicely.

KOREAN PREDICTS MORE BOMB BLASTS IN OTHER SECTORS

SAYS HONGKEW EPISODE BY HIS ORDERS; WANTS TO FREE COUNTRY

SHANGHAI, May 9.—(AP)—Bomb attacks on Japanese leaders in Japan and Manchuria, similar to that which occurred in Hongkew Park here April 29, were predicted today in a statement which emanated from the Korean colony.

It purported to give the true explanation of the Hongkew bombing ten days ago which resulted in the death of one high Japanese official and injury of several others.

It was signed by Kim Koo, a Korean said to be head of the Korean Patriots' society. Kim said he was the instigator of the Hongkew bombing and wanted the world to know the truth, so the Japanese would stop rounding up Korean residents of Shanghai for questioning.

He said he sent Yun Kil, a young Korean revolutionary to Hongkew Park that day with bombs and that the young man "achieved his purpose." Yun is now in the hands of the Japanese, he said, and "may be dead or alive."

Kim said he himself had left Shanghai before the statement was issued in his name, but he added:

"My life is dedicated to freeing my country. The Japanese are doing everything in their power to apprehend me, but my work continues. Our association seeks to kill Japanese civil and military leaders. There will be other affairs similar to that at Hongkew soon, both in Japan and Manchuria."

MEANS AIDES IN SECURING BIG SUM FROM WOMAN SOUGHT

GOVERNMENT MEN CONFIDENT GRAND JURY WILL INDICT NOTORIOUS FIGURE

WASHINGTON, May 9.—(AP)—Other actors were sought today in the queer drama which Gaston B. Means is alleged to have staged for Mrs. Edward B. McLean and $100,000 of her money.

From the many recorded pages of Means' exploits a hint was sought as to whom he enlisted to represent go-betweens for the Lindbergh kidnappers in those complicated negotiations and dramatic conferences from which the wealthy Washington woman emerged minus the huge sum she gave him as ransom money.

Quite confident that the District of Columbia grand jury would return an indictment against him tomorrow on the larceny after trust charge, government men directed their efforts toward building up a strong case. Means is in jail under $100,000 bond and will have difficulty getting out if District Attorney Lee A. Rover succeeds in requiring that the bond be secured fully by four separate bondsmen before the former government operative and convict can get loose.

The McLean money is still unaccounted for.

NEW ORLEANS, May 9.—(AP)—A short cut in cancer diagnosis promising more hope for the most malignant cases was shown to the American Medical Association today.

This new method enables an expert with a microscope to see at almost a glance whether a cancer can be benefited by radium.

About one-third of all cancers are helped by radium while the other two-thirds are not.

The very malignant growths fall largely in the radium class and as they are the fastest spreading, the age of diagnosis is also life saving.

A special committee on cancer showed the radium work at the scientific exhibit where the latest developments in medicine are on display for several thousand physicians attending the five days' annual meeting of the association.

The high speed diagnosis is the result of 10 years' study by several physicians including A. C. Broders, M. D., of the Mayo Clinic, and Max Cutler, M. D., of the Michael Reese Hospital, Chicago.

BISHOP APPEALS FOR UNITING OF METHODIST CHURCH

NO NORTH NOR NO SOUTH SHOULD INTERVENE, CALIFORNIA URGED

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., May 9.—(AP)—A plea for a united American Methodistism, with no "north" or "south," came to the general convention of the Methodist Episcopal church today from the Methodist Episcopal church south.

Bishop A. J. Moore of San Francisco, general superintendent of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South on the Pacific Coast, voiced the appeal.

"Whatever the differences of days gone by," he declared, "they are now infinitesimal and should be buried in oblivion."

Bishop Moore's plea was received enthusiastically. In 1844 Northern and Southern Methodistism divided over the question of slavery.

"The extreme urgency of the present would situation summons us to a united front," the Bishop continued. "Our division is more than unfortunate. It is wasteful of time, energy and money. It is time that the prejudices of yesterday are forgotten."

Although the Episcopal elections will not take place for another week or ten days, seven names are mentioned by delegates of the conference as the outstanding possibilities for new bishops.

Opinion in well-informed quarters is that the Episcopal committee will recommend the election of three new bishops. Many delegates believe the three will be elected from the following list: Lewis O. Hartman, Boston; Jos. M. M. Gray, Detroit; Loren M. Edwards, Denver; J. Ralph Magee, Seattle; William E. Shaw, Peoria, Ill.; Albert E. Day, and Ralph B. Urmy, both of Pittsburgh.

The election of new bishops, always a matter of intense conference interest, is surrounded with more uncertainty than ever before. Several factors have tended to make the whole subject of new bishops and the assignment of existing areas and the number of new bishops to be elected.

ALLRED PLANNED START TESTIMONY IN MAJOR OIL SUIT

PRESIDENT TEXAS COMPANY FIRST WITNESS LISTED FOR MONDAY

AUSTIN, May 9.—(AP)—Attorney General James V. Allred planned to start preliminary testimony today in his suit against fifteen major oil companies and two petroleum associations for alleged violation of the Texas anti-trust laws. The hearing was set for 2 p. m.

R. C. Holmes of New York, president of the Texas company, was the first witness listed to appear before special Commissioner George Shelley. Holmes and other officials of the Texas company were ordered to appear in Austin after a court fight, defense attorneys contending it was improper to bring officials of defendant companies to Austin "to build up the state's case."

District Judge J. D. Moore held in favor of the state and ordered them to appear today.

The testimony taken before Shelley later will be read to the judge and jury at the trial proper.

Allred is seeking forfeiture of the characters of the domestic oil companies, cancellation of the permits of the foreign corporations and the collection of maximum penalties aggregating $17,500,000.

He charged the defendants conspired to gain a monopoly over the marketing facilities for gasoline and lubricating oil through adherence to a "code of ethics."

He also charged them with conspiring to fix and maintain the prices of gasoline and lubricants.

Egg Like Peanut Shown on Saturday

Mrs. E. B. Byrne, who lives near the municipal airport on the Emhouse road, sent a freak egg to the Sun office Saturday. It is almost an exact reproduction of a giant peanut, and apparently contains two yolks, one in each division of the egg. The egg measured only two and one-half inches in length and the shell was almost a clear white.
